

PRESS RELEASE

Experienced provider of services in the care market as main sponsor

Klüh supports the Capital Congress of Medicine and Healthcare

Berlin, 21 June 2017 - The Capital Congress of Medicine and Healthcare in Berlin is Germany's leading congress for decision-makers in healthcare. This year for the first time, the Düsseldorf-based family business Klüh is the main sponsor of the event, which is attended by around 1000 high-ranking representatives from hospitals and clinics. In dialogue with the Federal Minister of Health Hermann Gröhe and top managers in healthcare, the focus this year is on the central criteria "quality and financing".

"We are closely following the developments on the health market which help us to develop and continually optimise our services for the care market. The exchange with decision-makers on all relevant topics is extremely important for us, because we want to master the challenges of the coming years together with our customers.", said Reiner Worbs, Holding Managing Director of Klüh.

Based on the network concept, to conclude the first day of the fair, the company owner Josef Klüh and the Holding Managing Director Reiner Worbs invited business partners and media to an after fair party in the exclusive event location "ewerk". The TV and celebrity chef Frank Rosin appeared as a star guest, but Klüh Catering was responsible for the culinary highlights of the evening and attended to the physical well-being of the 500 guests with unusual creations. The event was presented by the professional dancer Sarah Latton, known from the successful RTL show "Let's dance".
