For the fourth time in a row

Comenius EduMedia Award for Klüh Security

Düsseldorf, 21.10.2020 – Each year, the Gesellschaft für Pädagogik, Information und Medien (GPI) confers the Comenius-EduMedia Awards for educational media that is outstanding in terms of pedagogy, content and design. Klüh Security, Düsseldorf, has now been recognised for the fourth time for its digital learning programme “DigiLearn”.

The GPI award “EduMedia Award” in the area of adult education and health-promoting education went to the Klüh Security programme “Ausbildung der Evakuierungshelfer für die MERKUR Spiel-Arena” (training of evacuation assistants for the MERKUR Spiel-Arena) in Düsseldorf.

This year, the GPI has already honoured outstanding digital educational media for work, training, school, culture and leisure for the 25th time. Nearly 200 manufacturers, publishers, projects and authors from 14 countries from Iceland to Cyprus have submitted digital educational products for a manufacturer-neutral quality check.

Axel Hartmann, Managing Director of Klüh Security: “The fourth award in a row is a motivation for us to continue to push ahead with digitisation and to make effective use of all the opportunities available.”
