

PRESS RELEASE

Klüh Multiservices again awarded by F.A.Z.-Institut:

One of the most popular employers in Germany

Düsseldorf, 22 December 2020 – The F.A.Z.-Institut and the IMWF Institut für Management und Wirtschaftsforschung have, once again, together awarded Klüh Service Management GmbH the seal “Germany’s Most Popular Employer”. According to this, Klüh has a very attractive reputation. A total of around 1,000 employers were awarded.

For the study, the institute examined 26 million statements on about 22,000 companies in 438 million German-language online sources. The basis was formed by entries made from 1 July 2019 to 30 June 2020. From the employee’s point of view, alongside employer performance, other reputational factors such as profitability, product and service performance, sustainability and management performance also play a significant role in determining the attractiveness of a company. These factors were all illuminated.

Christian Frank, Managing Director of Klüh Service Management GmbH: “We are delighted that, despite the extreme challenges caused by corona, as an employer, we have once again achieved this coveted award. We have had to adapt to a changed working environment and are proud of all our colleagues who are also doing their best during the pandemic. Thus, as an employer, we also always strive to give a lot back.” The company Klüh was already named “Germany’s Most Popular Employer” in 2018 and in 2019 it received the certificate “Germany’s Best Employer” according to a study by the Cologne-based analysis institute ServiceValue and the daily newspaper “DIE WELT”.
